COCOA BEACH , FL - January 2005 -- HotAir Network Group is pleased to announce the installation and activation of another Holiday Inn. Holiday Inn Express in Cocoa Beach is now fully installed and operational, providing both wired and wireless services in all guest rooms and meeting facilities. Holiday Inn Express is strategically located on Cocoa Beach within minutes of Kennedy Space Center and Patrick Air Force Base, where both technical support and security are critical to hotel guests.

"We are pleased to be selected as the guest Internet solution provider for Holiday Inn Express in Cocoa Beach . Internet access is very important to guests in today's market. They want to get connected quickly and without having to call technical support. HotAir provides an 'Internet Connection Guide' to help guests get past the one or two small hurdles that might keep them from getting connected. With the deployment of our service, technical support call volume at this site, and every other HotAir customer site, is far below the industry average," said Sam Trierer, CTO of HotAir Network Group.

"HotAir has provided our facility with a true asset. Our guests, especially the professionals, comment on the outstanding technical support and the ease of getting connected and productive. We are completely satisfied with HotAir and our ownership group will be signing the contract for another facility within the week," added Denzel Noronha, General Manager of Holiday Inn Express in Cocoa Beach .
